WE NOMINATE

Ernest Theodore DeWald, by normal retirement standards a man of leisure but through personal preference a man of thoughtful action, who in his 71st year is carrying his distinguished career as a scholar-teacher into its sixth decade. At a time of life when most academicians are content to complete unfinished works in the quiet of a research library, or home alcove, the soft-spoken and deceptively energetic DeWald has ventured westward into Pittsburgh's "Golden Triangle" and has gone up into the University of Pittsburgh's "Cathedral of Learning" to serve as Andrew Mellon Visiting Professor of Art, a post reserved for teachers of the highest calibre.

It was just a half-century ago this fall that DeWald, a native of New Brunswick and a Phi Beta Kappa member of the Rutgers Class of 1911, accepted his first assignment as a teacher of Classics and French in the Kingsley School, Essex Fells, N. J. A two-year stint in secondary education was followed by graduate studies in art history at Princeton, World War I service as Assistant Military Attache in Berne and Warsaw, and ultimately, at the urgings of his former Princeton teachers, the decision to return to the academic world rather than to make a profession of his life-long avocation, music.

First affiliated with Rutgers and the New Jersey College for Women (now Douglass), and then with Columbia, DeWald began his 35-year association with Princeton in 1925. As one year flowed into the next, he rose through faculty ranks and gained an international reputation as an art historian, particularly in connection with his studies of medieval illuminated manuscripts and early Italian paintings. In 1917, after compiling a brilliant and unusual World War II record with the Armed Forces, he succeeded the late and revered Frank Jewett Mather Jr. as Director of the University's burgeoning, if antiquated, Art Museum.

DeWald, decorated in post-World War II years by the United States, British and Italian governments, combined his wide-ranging knowledge of art with military duties as Director of the Monuments, Fine Arts and Archives Subcommission of the Allied Commission in Italy during the period 1943-1946. First as a major and later as a "leal colonel," supervising a staff of experts, DeWald was largely responsible for the "battle salvage" of Italian art treasures and archives and, with the collapse of the Nazi armies, helped locate and return to Italian repositories the large number of paintings and sculptures which had been destined for museums and private homes in Hitler's Germany.

Starting in North Africa and moving up through Sicily, Italy and Austria with the Allied advance, DeWald initially briefed U.S. Forces as to the sites of the most important buildings and monuments. The hope was, if possible, to avoid mutilation during actual operations. Once terrain had been secured, he and his colleagues initiated "first aid" for damaged works of art and searched out movable objects that had been moved to places of safety. Upon his return to Princeton, he could report that all of the transportable valuables in key Italian collections, with the exception of 18 paintings, had survived the war unscathed.

. For his continuing contributions as a front-rank educator; for relishing the opportunity of carrying forward his life's work in a new and challenging environment; for strengthening the humanistic tradition that has been a vital force in Princeton life for well over 200 years; he is TOWN TOPICS' nominee for

"WIN IN THE FALL!"

Political Clubs Have Purpose. Election Day is less than four weeks away. The bunting is out at Republican headquarters on Palmer Square and Democratic headquarters on Nassau Street.

Candidates are ringing doorbells and drinking more coffee than they should. And the members of Princeton's political clubs, the County Chairmen, the fund-raisers and the women who staff the headquarters are headed down the home stretch in democracy's most exciting race: the race to win on Election Day.

What do Princeton's political clubs do? What is their purpose? How do they raise money? Who chooses the candidates? Who joins the clubs?

One club official phrased it succinctly for both parties when he said, "No matter how much talk there is about lofty ideals and philosophy, we actually have just one purpose: to win in the fall."

Two And Two. In Princeton, there are two Democratic organizations and two Republican: The regular Democratic club, in existence for half a century, and the new Township Democratic Forum; the Combined Republican Clubs of Princeton (including the Young Republicans, which were absorbed last year as the "Young Division") and the Women's Republican Club.

Princeton is a Republican island in the Democratic sea of Mercer County and the Republican clubs are larger, wealthier and, on the whole, better organized than the Democratic. The regular Republican Club has a membership list of 1,000. The Democrats have 175, with 500 more inactive members. Republican Women have 300 members, Township Democratic Forum has 95. (There is overlap here: Township residents who joined the Forum did not resign their Borough membership.)

Within each party club, there is a polite friction between the old and the new. Within the Democratic Club, there is a core of working men and women who pushed doorbells for many futile years, lucky to elect one man in a decade—and young intellectuals who came to town after the war with little experience in routine politicking, but lots of willingness to discuss ideas.

Within the Republican club, there are the long-time residents of Princeton who are still generous with the campaign contributions but are wary of the aggressive young executives with their zest for organization and their eagerness to bring in new blood.

Forum Is Formed. The formation last April of the Township Democratic Forum was a reflection of these differences. Basically, the purpose of the Forum was to re-elect William Marvel to Township Committee; however, it was also organized to accommodate the differences existing within the regular Borough Democratic Club.

Township residents felt that the Borough group was oriented too firmly toward Court House and State House. They believed that the Township, which was inclined by 46 percent toward the Democrats as opposed to 34 percent toward the Republicans (according to the Jaycee survey last spring) was ripe for missionary work in which the Borough was not particularly interested.

There was no acrimonious "split" (the Forum was chartered by and blessed by Thorn Lord, Democratic County Chairman), but outsiders have teased the Forum about "deconsolidation."

All the clubs must accommodate these differences enough each year to choose the men and women who will "win in the fall." By law, County Commiteemen and women choose the candidates, but in practice, it works out quite differently. In the Republican Club, County Committee members are joined by key Club members and "elder statesmen"—about 50 in all. Some 40 or 50 names are thrown into the hopper and discussed frankly ("no good: he's got a Democratic wife.") The group narrows the list to a dozen, and then votes. It is this vote that determines the priority in which candidates will be asked whether they are willing to run.

The Democratic Side. In the Democratic party, candidates are chosen by a group consisting of club officers, an executive board of five members elected at large from the club, current office-holders and the past president of the club. This group presents its candidates to all club members and if they approve, the names are then given to the County Committee.

This brings up a delicate matter: the problem of the elected County Committeemen and women who are often outside the club itself. In the Republican ranks, it is only in the last five years that these officials and members of the club have met together at all.

Now, the club holds Open

DEMOCRATS: When Democratic Headquarters opened this week at 194 Nassau Street, candidates and workers were on hand to extend a pre-election welcome. Seated (left to right), Miss Mary Perone, Mrs. William Gordon and Mrs. Stephen Michael. Standing are the three candidates, John Redding, Miss Esther Oilworth and Mayor Raymond F. Male. REPUBLICANS: The coffee hour is an entrenched tradition among Princeton office-seekers. Here, the three Republican candidates for Borough office meet in a Borough home to explain issues to neighbors who drop in. Left to right, Alan Carrick, Henry Patterson (standing); Mrs. R. F. Kleiber, the hostess; and, seated on the floor, Joseph Wood.

Houses for County Committee and candidates, and each group is carefully invited to the other group's meetings. In addition, Committeemen and women are now members of the Board of Directors which determines Republican campaign strategy and selects candidates.

Democrats face a problem of finding committeemen who will work year-round, keeping an eye on everybody in the block every month of the year Democratic women throughout the state have been trying to teach County Committeemen and women what their duties are, and women in the Borough club have been active in this movement, but one spokesman said that, although Committeemen classes were well-attended, there seems to be general apathy.

With candidates chosen, the clubs tighten their organization and begin to move toward Election Day Reorganized in 1960 with an amended constitution, the Republican Club has an awesome table of organization, making up, according to one past officer, for years when there was little or no coordination The Board of Directors, with its wide club representation, turns over actual campaign work to an executive committee, which hands its workers a manual and a chart of organization. Workers who slough off are told to "shape up or ship out"

Infinitely smaller, the Democratic Club relies less on formal organization and more on the full-time loyalty of individual workers For example, the death last summer of Mrs Jane McGrath, master-of-all-trades for the Club, has had a noticeable effect on the efficiency and organization of the Club for 1961 elections.

As a minority party, the Democrats have had to do a relentless amount of list-checking and door-to-door canvassing and they have an Election Day schedule which calls for an hour-by-hour check of who has not yet voted Between 5 and 7:30 p.m on Election Day, club workers send out cars for house-bound voters and baby-sitters for voting mothers.

Funds for these campaigns are raised chiefly through mail or personal solicitation and club dues. Democratic dues, Borough and Township, are $3. Republican dues are $2. Republican women give a card-party which attracts over 50 tables of players at $10 a athle. Last year, the women sold presidential jewelry for a net profit of $600.

Democrats allow around $1500 to elect a mayor and two Councilmen, or as in the Township, a Committeeman or two. Republicans would not reveal their total expenditures for a typical campaign but, over a period of years, they have had the greater financial resources of the two.

What lies ahead? For the new Township Forum, it's canvassing the area beween Bayard Lane, Grover, Hamilton and Mt. Lucas, "an area whose residents should realize that their future lies with the Democratic party," in the words of one Forum member.

For the Republicans, it's spade work in Mercer County, trying to restore two-party government to a County that has been Democratic for 15 years. But right now, for them all, Democratic and Republican, it's that all important yearly race: "to win in the fall."

Person To Person

Cory T Kammler

The other day we were told that it is estimated that in the past six or seven thousand years, some 30,000,000,000 (30 billion) people have lived on this earth.

Of course, all world population figures are no better than educated guesses, based on estimates, for even today, there are areas in which no census has ever been taken. In others, even the modern census is an estimate, rather than an actual count. But for all practical purposes, these figures are used, and some interesting thoughts come from them.

It is obvious that world population is increasing now at the fastest rate in recorded history, and that each larger generation compounds the next. World population now is said to be some 2,500,000,000 (2 billion, 500 million) and it is estimated to be increasing at the rate of 30,000,000 a year. These figures indicate that we have more than eight percent as many people now living as have lived in all these thousands of years.

To get back to the present, our job is to serve our local population, you and you, in such a manner as to make you sure we are THE place on earth for you to trade. Kammer Buick Pontiac Co., Route 206, opposite Princeton Airport, WA 1-2222.

PERSONALITIES

Raymond F. Male, 76 Cedar Lane, tireless, ubiquitous mayor of Princeton, who next week will make time for the launching of an entirely new venture. With his wife (mother of four) and an out-of-town associate as partners, he will operate a bookshop providing numerous unusual features—and hours. See "It's New to Us," page 7.

Bobby McCarthy, 11-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert D McCarthy, 44 Morgan Place, who will always remember his first year of golf as the one in which he made a hole in one. After sinking his tee shot (a three wood) Friday on Springdale's 127-yard 15th, young Bobby was somewhat puzzled by the hearty congratulations of his father and other envious golfing friends. "Doesn't everyone?" he asked.

TALE OF AN OCELOT

Banned from University. He's spotted like a leopard. He moves like a jaguar. He snarls like a tiger. He is Lancelot the ocelot and he has been expelled from Princeton University.

From January to June and since classes began last month, the 30-pound, 18-inch high, tawny yellow and black member of the cat family had been living in the clothes closet of his master's dormitory room. Shortly after midnight on Tuesday, he was taken to his new residence in the home of James E. Coan, 5 Bennett Place, Cranbury.

But before he left, gregarious, beer-lapping Lancelot led university officials a merry chase. His nightly prowls around campus kept the proctors' office busy with reports that "a leopard is running wild on campus." Two formal complaints were received this fall by the proctors from students who had awakened to find Lancelot climbing around on their beds.

"He's really completely harmless," said Lancelot's student-owner, George R. Bunn, a 20-year-old junior from Springfield, Ill. However, Princeton's ban on pets in dormitories extends even to "harmless" creatures and Lancelot finally had to go.

Other Ocelots to Greet Him. His new master already owns two ocelots, a female named "Sabina" and a male named "Sabu." Mr. Coan, an accountant for a Trenton insurance agency, said he was building a new cage for Lancelot in his dining room.

"I read about Bunn's plight and felt I just had to help," Mr. Coan said. "I know I'd never let anybody take my ocelots—not even for a $1,000 each."

Mr. Coan, who is 42 years old and a bachelor, has agreed to take care of Lancelot for "as long as necessary." Mr. Coan said he would not charge Bunn any room fee for Lancelot, but Bunn has offered to help pay for the ocelot's food.

Mr. Coan is a member of the Long Island Ocelot Club composed of some 200 members from the eastern United States. He has written in the club's newsletter on the subject of ocelot taming, his specialty.

"Zoo-keepers will tell you they can never be tamed," Mr Coan said, "but I've worked feverishly with mine and am determined to prove they can be."

Bunn said he was sorry to have to part with Lancelot, whom he said was "not a pet but rather a companion." He said also, however, that he was pleased that Lancelot's new master lives so close by.

"I'll never let Lancelot get far from my sight," Bunn said, "and it's conceivable that he'll pay me a social call from time to time."

PERMIT FEE WAIVED

On Building Shelters. Borough Council has approved an ordinance which will exempt those building structures "designed exclusively as nuclear fallout shelters" from paying a building permit fee. The vote on the ordinance was 5-0 in favor. Councilman Ellwood Godfrey was absent.

Councilman William H. Walker, chairman of the Council's civil defense and disaster control committee, reported that his group is studying the possibility of renovating the Borough's civil defense headquarters. The renovated headquarters would serve as a model shelter and would also house civil defense personnel in time of attack.

Councilman Walker reported that Captain Geoffrey Sage, civil defense and disaster control director for both Borough and Township is working with a civil defense committee at Princeton University. Captain Sage said that he planned to meet soon with representatives of the Borough and Township school boards concerning civil defense preparations.

Council scheduled a public hearing for Thursday, November 9, in Borough Hall to consider a variance granted by the Zoning Board of Adjustment to the First National Bank to construct a branch on the southwest corner of Nassau Street and Riverside Drive. The area is a residential, R-2, zone.

Mayor Raymond F. Male announced the appointment of H. Philip Minis of 74 Wilson Road to the Borough Housing Authority. Mr. Minis will serve until August, 1964, filling the unexpired term of Edmund S. DeLong who has resigned from the Authority. Mayor Male also announced the reappointment of Kenneth A. Wells and Mrs. Stephen R Michael to five-year terms as members of the Housing Authority.

Council confirmed the election of Carl H Sweitzer of 60 Balsam Lane to membership in the Hook and Ladder Company. Councilman Dan D. Coyle, chairman of Council's police committee, announced that Patrolman John J. Bellow, Jr., graduated from the State Police School with a grade of 97 percent to rank second in his class.

Councilman Albert A. Austen, chairman of the committee on the future of Princeton, announced that the newly organized Princeton Junior Museum of the Arts and Sciences will have its first and temporary home on the third floor of Borough Hall, subject to fire and safety regulations.

Dear TRAVELEX,

The weather at home is so beautiful right now that it's hard to remember what last February was like. Now is the time, though, to book passage on a winter cruise. The best rooms are taken first.

The islands in the Caribbean are so beautiful and so nice and warm! Makes you feel like an old pussy cat curling up in the warm sun after polishing off a nice saucer of cream.

The water is so clear that small boats look as if they are floating in mid-air!

There are all kinds and descriptions of luxurious hotels to stay in and many, many sights to see. Have you ever been to "Doctor's Cave" on Jamaica? Have you ever driven your car from Kingston through the Blue Mountains to Ocho Rios? How about Montego Bay? Or San Juan, or St. Thomas?

Don't forget that TRAVELEX will make all your arrangements for renting cars, hotel rooms and practically anything else you'll be able to think of!

HUGHES HERE SUNDAY

At Whig Hall. Richard J. Hughes, Democratic candidate for Governor, will discuss campaign issues Sunday evening at 8 15 at Whig Hall on the Princeton University Campus

Co-sponsors of Mr Hughes' appearance here are the Whig-Clusophic Debating Society, the Princeton University Student Democratic Club, and the Princeton Chapter of Citizens for Hughes. Judge Hughes will appear at the American Legion Hall in Lawrenceville prior to his Princeton visit

Jonathan Day, president of the Whig-Clusophic Society, said that a chair would be made available for Judge Hughes' opponent on the platform at Whig Hall The Democratic candidate has repeatedly sought to debate the issues wth his opponent, James P Mitchell, but without success. Mr. Day reported that it would be particularly appropriate for such a debate to take place at Whig Hall, one of the nation's oldest student debating societies.

By League of Women Voters. The Republican and Democratic candidates for seats in the governing bodies of the Borough and the Township will voice their opinions at a candidates' night sponsored by the Princeton League of Women Voters. The meeting will be held October 24 at 8.30 at the Riverside School.

Each candidate will have five minutes to speak on a prepared question. Questions from the floor will follow. In charge of the meeting is Mrs. Gino Treves of 9 Adams Drive.

The League will sponsor a similar event for the Lawrence Township candidates October 25 at 8.30 at the Lawrence Jr. High School. Arrangements for this meeting were made by Mrs. Olive Usiskin, voters service chairman of the Princeton League.

'YES' VOTE URGED

On Bond Issue. Henry S. Patterson, the Republican candidate for Mayor, and Council GOP Candidates Alan W. Carrick and Joseph R. Wood have urged all voters to vote "yes" for the 40 million dollar capital improvement bond issue for the Department of Institutions and Agencies. The bond issue will be public question No. 1 on the ballot this November.

Nearly half of the 40 million will be used directly to help the state's mentally retarded Included in this is a 1000-bed institution at Woodbridge which would cost $13,000,000 The rest of the money will be used to improve existing facilities.

The 115.5 inch wheel base of Ford's new Fairlane line of automobiles places it between the Falcon (109.5") and the Galaxie (119"). With its Thunderbird-type roof and classic styling, the car is clearly a member of the Ford car family. All of the twice-a-year maintenance features introduced on the Galaxie are offered on the new Fairlane. The new Ford car line, which will be introduced in dealer showrooms on November 2, is available in two- and four-door models in both a Fairlane and Fairlane 500, which is shown above.

GALA OPENING PLANNED

For McCarter. State officials and personages from the world of the theatre and the arts will attend the private gala opening of the McCarter Theatre fall season this Friday. The play will be Shaw's "Saint Joan", which will open publicly the following night, Saturday, October 14, at 8:30.

The private invitational showing will be given by the McCarter Guild on behalf of Guild patrons and supporting members. The curtain for this presentation will be at 9 p.m.

Following the opening nights of "Saint Joan," the Shaw work will be given on the evenings of October 26 and 27 and the afternoons of October 15 and 18. Special matinees for schools, under Guild cooperation with the New Jersey State Department of Education, will be given on October 12, 13 and 19.

Coincident with the opening of the fall drama series, McCarter will present an exhibition in the upstairs gallery of the theatre of paintings by Beulah Bassine. The exhibition has been arranged in cooperation with New York's Pietrantonio Gallery. The Bassine exhibition will continue through October 19.

Three young residents of Princeton have been added to the cast of "Saint Joan." One is Steven Kraft, sixth grader, who is a veteran of McCarter productions, having appeared as Peaseblossom in last year's "Midsummer Night's Dream." He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis S. Kraft.

The two other young pages are John Ballantine, Jr., seventh grade student at Witherspoon School, who will portray Dunois' page, and Terry Downer, son of Dr. and Mrs. Alan Downer, who is also a Witherspoon seventh grader.

A WILDE NIGHT

At McCarter Opener. A sparse audience was treated to a magnificent virtuoso performance Monday night as McCarter Theatre opened its fall production season with Micheal MacLiammoir in "The Importance of Being Oscar," a production based on the life and works of Oscar Wilde. Mr. MacLiammoir, who also wrote the show, was the only one on stage for the more than two-hour performance.

During those two hours, the audience of 500 watched the works of Wilde, as well as the life of man himself, realize their dramatic potentialities. Although Mr. MacLiammoir was alone on stage, there were several characters from Wilde's works, and, more important, there was the essence of Wilde.

Unlike Hal Holbrook in "An Evening With Mark Twain," which appeared at McCarter last season, Mr. MacLiammoir did not try to portray Wilde continuously. He made prefatory comments on the life of Wilde and on the various works to be presented. He then acted out scenes from the life or works, taking all the parts represented.

The first act dealt mainly with Wilde's "Period of the Green Carnation" before the scandalous trials which finally wrecked his career. Mr MacLiammoir proved his versatility with portrayals of the servant, Lord Goring and his father from "The Ideal Husband;" Herod from "Salome" done in the original French; and, with a wonderful thrust of the lower lip, Lady Bracknell from "The Importance of Being Earnest."

Perhaps the most powerful scene from the works which Mr. MacLiammoir presented was the dramatic interpretation of Wilde's novel, "The Picture of Dorian Gray." The veteran Shakespearean actor transformed an immature and unfortunate work into a terrifying horror story in the best traditions of Edgar Allen Poe.

The first act closed with the reading, or rather the acting out, of a letter written to Wilde's friend Robert Ross just prior to the author's trials. The second act began with the judge's sentence of two years in jail, and the tragedy of Wilde, the man, was set. Mr. MacLiammoir reached his tragic height with a moving and profound rendition of Wilde's justification of his conduct, "De Profundis."

Very few props were used in the production: merely a table, wooden armchair, chaise lounge and a vase of flowers which was significantly changed from blooming lilies in the first act, to dead and withered flowers in the second. The simplicity added to the almost informal nature and Mr. MacLiammoir seemed to be giving a sort of friendly lecture on a subject very dear to his heart.

Wilde was once asked, before the opening of his latest play if it would be successful. "It's already a success," he answered. "The problem is whether the audience will be successful."

Mr. MacLiammoir was in a similar situation, working with established works and writings. That the production, and the audience, was a success was shown in the three curtain calls Mr. MacLiammoir took. He deserved more.

SHAW'S DAUPHIN: When "Saint Joan" opens this weekend at McCarter Theatre, its "Dauphin" will be portrayed by the young British actor, David Vaughan, who is also known to McCarter audiences for his play notes and his contributions to the McCarter Guild Bulletin.

WHO'S GOT RHYTHM? "Six Big Ones." A popular rhythm and blues show called "Six Big Ones" will be presented by C-K productions in Dillon Gym at 9 on Friday October 27. Actually, at the moment, it's only five big ones, but the sixth will be known and announced shortly.

SUBDUED SABOTEURS: James Darren, David Niven and Gregory Peck, as three members of a six-man suicide sabotage team are caught at a Greek wedding festival in Carl Foreman's adventure-spectacle "The Guns of Navarone" now showing at the Playhouse. Anthony Quinn is also featured in the technicolor World War II odyssey filmed in Greece.

News Of The Theatres

The leaders of the Six will be the "Drifters," responsible for recordings of "There Goes My Baby," "Save the Last Dance for Me," "Some Kind of Wonderful" and others. The Marcels, who wrote "Blue Moon" and "Heartaches" will appear, too, and so will the Crests, whom listeners will remember for "Step by Step," "Trouble in Paradise," and "Sixteen Candles."

The featured instrumental group will be Bobby Peterson's Big Band, whose hits include "Irresistible You" and "Smooth Sailing." Little Anthony, formerly with the Imperials, will be the featured single artists. His most famous recording is "Tears on my Pillow."

Tickets for the Six Big Ones are $3.25 and $2.75 for reserved seats and $2.40 and $1.90 for general admission. Reservations may be obtained through C-K, Box 591 Princeton, or at the Princeton University Store.

CURTAIN GOING UP!

For Community Players. An original one-act play, "The Ghost Who Closed Doors," by George Furnish, will be given by the Princeton Community Players as an opener for their 1961-62 season.

The play, written by a member of the Players, will be given at a membership meeting to be held Sunday, October 29, at 8 p.m. at the Red Barn Theatre, Hopewell. Helen Van Zandt will direct and Frances Keene and Venetia Reed will be in the cast.

The business of the meeting will be to cast "The Country Wife," the Restoration comedy by William Wycherly, which will be given at Murray Theatre the second week in December, under the direction of Esther Usiskin.

Directions for reaching the Red Barn Theatre may be obtained by calling WA 4-0744 or WA 1-8361. Prospective members of the Players may obtain membership information from Phyllis Collins, WA 1-6964.

THE PLAYHOUSE

The Guns of Navarone (October 11-24) takes about 15 minutes to get started and then never lets up in its adventure and excitement. Carl Foreman produced and wrote the two-and-a-half hour spectacle from the World War II action-adventure novel by Alistair MacLean.

Briefly, the story concerns an Allied team of saboteurs who are sent on a suicide mission to destroy two German radar-controlled guns on the Greek island of Navarone. The team has only six days to do the job because of a proposed Nazi attack on a nearby island on which are 2,000 British soldiers. The near-impossible task is beset with dangers, both of nature and the enemy.

Technically, the film is superb. Especially noteworthy the most brutal and punishing are a storm at sea, probably storm ever filmed, and the magnificent climax which is a masterpiece of editing. The weaknesses include tendencies to moralize on war (which Foreman happily keeps short and follows immediately with more action), plus a few inconsequential flaws.

Top acting honors go to Anthony Quinn as a Greek soldier, and David Niven as the demolition expert. Other performers include Gregory Peck, Anthony Quayle, Gia Scala and the gigantic guns. Rating: the best high adventure film in some time, and the most exciting American picture of the year.

THE GARDEN

The Pit and the Pendulum (October 11-14) is this year's Vincent Price horror film based remotely on an idea of Edgar Allen Poe. Like last year's "The Fall of the House of Usher," it is very successful in its field: it is a horror.

Richard Matheson, one of the best-known fantasy and horror authors, has adapted Poe quite freely, using only three of the master's ideas: the pit, the pendulum and the title. Vincent Price, who must be getting used to these roles, is a 16th century Spanish Don, living with the heritage of his family. This heritage is his father's murder of his wife and brother for infidelity years before in a Hollywood-medieval torture chamber.

John Kerr proves that horror movies are not his specialty either, and one wonders if he isn't discouraged by this time. Others in the supporting cast include Barbara Steele, Luana Anders and Anthony Carbone. In color, the better to see the gore by. Rating: poor Poe.

Spartacus (October 15-28) is Kirk Douglas' answer to "Ben-Hur." It is bloodier, has a bigger and better-known cast, is set in Rome 100 years earlier and contains a mass-crucifixion scene. However, it is shorter, by nine minutes.

Kirk Douglas plays Spartacus, the Roman gladiator who led a revolt of slaves in 73 B.C. and eventually raised an army of 90,000 to challenge the Roman legions. After a few victories, the slaves were crushed by Roman might, and the leaders crucified. Sir Laurence Olivier is cast as Marcus Crassus, the Roman leader.

Others in the all-star cast include Jean Simmons as the slave-girl in love with Spartacus, Peter Ustinov in his Oscar-winning role as the director of a gladitorial school, and Charles Laughton as the senator Gracchus. Minor roles are handled ineffectively by Tony Curtis as Antonius and John Gavin as Julius Caesar (good grief!).

If one isn't overcome by three hours of blood and thunder, one may find a message of freedom from oppression. But sometimes it's too much to take, as, for example, when Douglas looks down from a cross to see Miss Simmons holding up their child. In color and wide-screen. Filmed in Hollywood. Rating: a gory spectacle.

THE MAYOR OPENS SHOP

"Male's Bookshop." Mayor Raymond F. Male and Mrs. Male and their partner, Ronald Zweig, will open a book shop next Wednesday at 203 Nassau, in the old brick building on the corner of Nassau and Charlton, a structure said to be the fifth oldest in Princeton.

The Mayor's new shop will be unique in many ways. For one thing, it will be open until 11 p.m. six nights a week (Sundays, you can read at home.). The doors will open each day at 1 p.m. and on Saturdays at 9 a.m. For another, it will give special consideration to children and young people, whom Mr. Male feels are the neglected orphans of the book-buying family.

In addition, the shop will assemble bibliographies for people who need books on a special subject. It will also stock the books put out by specialized publishing houses —prayer books, for example, and it will provide, above all, an abundance of inexpensive books.

This, of course, means pocketbooks, and Male's Bookshop will have them in full supply, all arranged with the covers out, instead of the spines, so that you can browse without dislocating your neck trying to read the titles. (This has required some very special shelving, because it takes up more space than conventional display, as you know.) Books will also be shelved by subject, not by publisher, you'll be glad to hear.

Browsing will be the chief item in the Male inventory. Mr. Male hopes that whole families will come in for the evening, the older members settling down in the comfortable chairs under a lamp, the younger ones pulling a small chair up to a small table and opening the book that says "pat the bunny."

There may be coffee from a big hospitable urn, and for the school children who drop in on the way home from Nassau Street, Witherspoon Street, Princeton High or St. Paul's schools, there may be a coke machine, if present plans work out.

Children's and teen-agers books will be priced for the market using the most inexpensive available editions. Mr. Male will encourage the purchase of a 75c paperback of, say, "David Copperfield," which can be turned in later for a better edition if the child wants the book for his permanent library. These thumbed and read trade-ins will then be dumped into a bin and sold for 10 or 15 cents.

For adults, Mr. Male will offer custom service. If you are going to Peru for your vacation, he will supply you with books on the history, culture, language and scenery of Peru. If you are interested in the history of the upper Nile, he will let you know ahead of publication, about a new book coming out in your field.

Transients in town for a night, lonely students tired of a lonely room, may drop in at Male's Bookshop for a chat, because the exchange of ideas will be encouraged. Possibly an author may be invited, not just to autograph, but to discuss his ideas with whoever turns up.

"My whole idea", Mr. Male explains, "is to put more books in the hands of more people."

SALT AND SPICE

In Modern Dress. Cooks who use herbs and spices frequently, but in twentieth, rather than eighteenth century style, have had to be content with folksy-wolksy pine spice cabinets in chromsy-womsy modern kitchens. Now, at Princeton Gourmet, these harrassed souls can buy spice racks in modern design.

The racks, designed for six, 12 or 18 containers, are simple, stained pieces of wood. The containers are brightly painted metal cans in orange, turquoise, white or lemon, held in the racks by tension. Because they are metal, the cans are light proof and air proof, and will keep your spices fresh longer than glass containers will.

Another bright kitchen note comes from a collection of white enameled cast iron cooking utensils, each decorated sparsely, not with parsely but with an ivy leaf here and there. Covered frying pans, an 11-quart, football-sized casserole, smaller casseroles and so on, are included in the set. Wooden handles on the pans.

Weaving our way out of the room where the Weinhaber is (see box), we found ourselves confronted by a sedate black cane. We unscrewed the top, and found, concealed in the stem of the cane a succession of five one and one-half ounce —well, test tubes is the best word we can think of. You fill them, not with hydrochloric acid, but with such complex chemical formulae as 90 proof gin, sour mash bourbon, Scotch or orange juice. No room for rocks: you drink it straight. Empties may be removed by unscrewing the bottom of the cane.

The vine leaf appears in deep mustard gold on an oyster white background in a collection of Italian provincial table wear. A big, old-fashioned teapot, a big tureen, a deep salad or fruit bowl, a sauceboat and the usual place setting pieces are all available, and you may buy from open stock if you wish.

The Mexican craftsmen are represented by striped and plain fringed placemats dyed in such pleasant combinations as orange and green, blue and violet and aqua, black and rust or shocking pink, green and white. Mats and napkins

Haben Sie Wein?

Well, ja, and would you like some? Bibbers may pour a glass for themselves by means of the Weinhaber now at Princeton Gourmet. What we mean is, you buy it at the Gourmet and take it home and fill it with wine; you don't drop in at the Gourmet for a snifter before lunch.

A Weinhaber, Swiss by ancestry, is a tear-drop shaped, 3-litre decanter, held upside down in a graceful wrought iron frame fashioned like a twining grape vine, leaves and all. Nudge your glass against the drop end of tear drop, and wine will come out.

Inside the decanter is a removable insert for ice, in case you want white wine to be chilled. If you are serving red and white, you should have the double Weinhaber with one decanter on each side of a center frame.

SOUZAY TO OPEN SERIES

Baritone in Recital. Gerald Souzay, French baritone, will appear in McCarter Theatre at 8 30 p m Monday to open the Princeton University Concerts for the 1961-62 season. M Souzay is the first artist in the Concerts' Series II

For his program, the baritone has chosen three classic arias by Handel and Monteverdi, five Schubert lieder and Beethoven's song cycle, "An de Ferne Geliebte." Following the intermission, he will sing three groups of songs by Debussy, Duparc and Ravel

Known as a "musician's musician" M Souzay has won acclaim for the quality of his voice, his interpretive powers and his profound understanding of the music he sings

He is a versatile artist, equally fluent in German lieder, folk songs from many lands and the classic songs of the baritone repertoire. He has sung in as many as 17 different languages, including among them an Irish brogue

Tickets for M Souzay's concert are on sale at the University Store and will be sold the night of the recital at the McCarter Theatre box office

AMATEURS WILL SING

Mozart's Requiem. Princeton's unique Society of Musical Amateurs will open its 27th season Sunday afternoon at 5 by singing Mozart's Requiem The amateurs will meet in the gymnasium of Miss Fine's School.

Soloists will be Virginia Switten, soprano; Barbara Hilbish, contralto; Robert Holland, tenor and Woodward Waesche, bass. An orchestra will accompany the group and Elizabeth Davidson will serve as pianist.

FRENCH BARITONE: Gerard Souzay will open University Concerts season Monday.

The Amateurs, numbering over 200 persons, gather once a month on a Sunday afternoon from October through May to sing the great choral works. There are no public performances, no try-outs and no rehearsals. The conductor, J Merrill Knapp, Dean of the College and professor in the music department, Princeton, will be assisted this year by Walter Nollner, director of the University Glee Club, and Mrs. Henry Lewis.

The Amateurs' program for the year is as follows: Bach's Cantatas Nos 131 and 61, or No. 21, November 12; Bach's Christmas Oratorio, December 10; Kodaly's Te Deum, January 14; Bach's Magnificato and Cantata No. 140, February 18; Faure's Requiem, March 11; Brahm's Liebeslieder Waltzer, Opus 52, April 8 and Bach's St. Matthew Passion, May 13.

Those who are interested in attending are asked to call Mrs. MacKenty Bryan, WA 4-0453 between 2 and 5 p m There is a membership fee to cover the cost of music.

TO PLAY ORGAN MUSIC

Of Early Italians. Luigi Ferdinando Tagliavini, eminent Italian organist, music historian and professor of organ at the Conservatory of Bolzano, will give a recital of early Italian organ music in the University Chapel next Thursday at 4 45. He will play a program from Cavazzoni to Vivaldi.

In addition to serving as professor at the Bolzano Conservatory, Signor Tagliavini is a lecturer at the University of Bologna, a city where there are two fine old organs, one in the cathedral church of San Petronio, dating from 1470, and one in the church of San Martino, built in 1597.

COOL ENOUGH FOR YOU?

Make a Wool Skirt. Women discovered many years ago that a single yard of fine woolen fabric will make a skirt whose cost, ready-made in the same fabric, would be prohibitive

A tour of the wool bolts at Gretchen's Fabric Shop, Route 130, will substantiate this point of view. For example, consider the French wool in a deep shade of toast with random width stripes in mustard gold woven over the toast. Look at the pure cashmenre in deep chocolate brown at $15 a yard and ask yourself the cost of a pure cashmere skirt purchased in a shop (The feel of this cashmenre is worth the trip to Gretchen's, by the way)

Davidow, usually known for suits, makes a loose wool knit fabric in the dull brass-gold you see so much this fall. With it, Gretchen's shows a Davidow tweed with olive, brown, tan and gold. The English weavers send over embroidered wools with little elongated diamonds, fleur de lis, or French knots in such colors as bottle green, sand beige.

Combinations of cashmere and wool come from France, where they have been designed in soft, smudged prints of olive, steel blue and taupe, or a deeply irridescent print of violet, green and royal These are the fabrics you can pull through a finger ring; they have almost the texture of silks.

Liberty of London presents a sheer wool paisley in strong colors, and the Italian knitters present a collection of double knits in red, turquoise or softer shades. These need no lining, by the way.

After dark, wear a dress you've made out of pure silk brocade, perhaps the French one in ice-green with a faint leaf tracery, or the bold lilac with an overall inter-woven design of sequins, or the deep olive green with its puckered, embossed leaves.

One of the most dramatic of these evening fabrics is the silk and mohair woven of electric blue and black with a shimmer that dazzles the eye even in prosaic daylight Another silk and mohair is a subtler mottling of black and midnight blue.

Gold silk lame has been combined, in Gretchen's eye, with some brown embroidered taffeta for a luminous ensemble A velveteen stained glass print with jewel tones of royal, green and purple, harmonizes with a solid myrtle blue velvet, or clear red

Somewhere, in planning your evening wardrobe, you'll find a place for the French laces, black or white, or the taupe brocade embossed with chrysanthemums.

CHAPERONES SOUGHT

By Teen Canteen. The Adult Board of the Princeton Teen Canteen has announced that a serious shortage of volunteers willing to serve as chaperones is threatening the success of the Canteen's Saturday evening dance program.

The Board has decided to try a new policy this week. If five adult couples have not ben obtained to chaperone by Thursday, a notice will be circulated at Princeton High School on Friday morning to announce that the Canteen will be closed this week.

The Board said that it hopes that this measure will alert parents of their responsibility and that the Canteen will not have to be closed For some time, a small group of parents has been serving as chaperones on a rotating basis

EXHIBIT PLANNED

Of Christian Art. The Beuron-Maria Laach Art Studios of New York City will present an exhibit of contemporary Christian art this Sunday from 9 to 5 30 at the Princeton Aquinas Foundation, 65 Stockton Street

The exhibit will feature originals and reproductions by painters, carvers, sculptors and ceramists from the United States and Europe The exhibit will be open to the public without charge

The Aquinas Foundation has announced that it is cooperating in the exhibit to encourage interest in artists devoting their talents to a profound and reverential interpretation of Christian subjects in art.

An informal column in which Henry Patterson, Republican Candidate for Borough Mayor, talks with Princeton Citizens on local issues.

Robert L. Clifford
132 Patton Avenue

Q. I notice your platform favors cooperating with the Township "where common interests exist." What do you mean by this? Does this imply you favor consolidation?

A. I am not in favor of consolidation. However, the Borough does not, and cannot, exist in a vocuum We already work with the Township in such matters as sewage disposal, the garbage, incinerator, and fire protection The Joint Library Board has also been a success. Planning and recreation are two other examples which come to mind of areas of "common interest" where we should work together, not only with the Township, but with other neighboring municipalities as well.

Mrs. A. M. Wert
17 Edwards Place

Mrs. Angus McBryde
15 Edwards Place

Q. We are concerned and confused over all the talk and conflicting statements about Jackson Street and Urban Renewal. What do you think should be done?

A. I am against the determination of "blight" by The Planning Board for the homes and buildings in the Jackson Street area. My fellow candidates — Joe Wood and Alan Carrick — share my opinion.

No one knows what is planned for the area to be cleared, other than the fact that a new connecting street is needed This withholding of information, particularly from the citizens forced to relocate, would alone be enough to cause me to vote against an Urban Renewal program just to get a new street. Why could the Borough not make a simple land trade with the owners of Palmer Square Inc. as an economical way to obtain the street without resorting to the controversy and unhappiness of Urban Renewal?

Charles Hayman
28 Green St.

Q. Why do you think Mr Mitchell would make a better governor than Mr. Hughes?

A. There are many reasons but one of the most important is that Jim Mitchell, with his broad background in business and high government office, is a more experienced administrator. This unusually wide experience will be of great help to him in solving the big problems New Jersey faces today. We are fortunate in having a man of Mitchell's calibre to be our next governor.

WILSON SUGGESTS PLAN For Township. In a campaign statement issued this week, Republican Township Committee candidate William L. Wilson proposed a 10-20-year financial master plan to implement the existing master plan for public works and community development.

Mr. Wilson said that he believed the course of local tax rates in the next few years was the chief problem to be solved by the Township.

In a five-point program, Mr Wilson stated that he favored continuation of all necessary projects in education and public health, with "rigid economies" in other areas of expense; long-term financing of major public works, but avoidance of debt-financing for short-term improvements; an equal voice in joint community projects that involve

To the Editor of Town Topics:

I would like to thank you for the excellent coverage you have given to the proposed Route 95 in West Windsor Township, and particularly for the coverage given to our citizens group, trying to change the present projected alignment.

However, I want to correct an error in your article of last week. Our stated purpose is to work with our local Township Committee and Planning Board, and to support them in their efforts 1. to prevent the construction of the superhighway in the Township, and 2. if the highway must cut through West Windsor, to suggest to the State the best possible location for it. In other words, they are not helping us; we are trying to help them.

Township and Borough (especially negotiation of a new Joint Sewer Agreement), a "go-slow" approach to projects that might change the semi-rural character of the Township.

Mr. Wilson also said that he favored the present program of Township Committee to attract light industry to the Township.

Describing his financial master plan, Mr. Wilson said it should include the development of an orderly program of capital financing, a program for self-liquidation as much as possible, co-ordination of Township borrowing with the Board of Education's debt operations; an "aggressive program" to protect and enhance the credit standing of the Township in the financial world and a continuing search for economies in day-to-day operations.

"If I am chosen to serve on Committee," Mr. Wilson concluded, "I would hope to use my financial experience gained on the Board of Education and the financial associations that I enjoy in my daily work, to make some contribution to an organized attack on our looming financial problems, which clearly is the next logical step in our community planning."

FUND TOPS 30%

Total Now $81,440. Robert Dilley, campaign chairman for the 1961 United Community Fund, reported this week that $81,440 has been raised toward the quota of $250,000. This represents better than 30 percent of the goal.

The Research Division, directed by Warren W. Wagner, has reported 442 contributions totalling $15,663. A major portion of this was credited to Astro Electronics Products, whose company and employee gifts of $10,500 are $3,000 more than last year. W. J. Schoener is chairman of Astro's Combined Charities Committee, with L. W. Ferber secretary.

Other highlights of early reports showed Benson and Benson achieving a total of $658 representing all of its 25 employees, the Mercantile Division, headed by Loar Quickle and Allen Frank, listing $1,660, and the Special Gifts Division accounting for 250 gifts totalling $52,795. Mrs. Coleman Donaldson heads this segment of the drive.

between the people and their government," said William Marvel, Democratic candidate for re-election to Township Committee, in a statement issued this week.

Mr. Marvel states his belief that the benefits of two-party representation cannot be found in voting records, and points out that he has sometimes been part of a majority vote, as he was on the swimming-pool fencing ordinance, and sometimes part of a minority vote, as he has been lately on the matter of sidewalk snow removal.

"The differences between Republicans and Democrats on many local questions are not clear-cut, doctrinal or constant over time," Mr. Marvel comments. "The role of the minority party representative as I have interpreted it . . . has been to generate new ideas for action, suggest solutions to problems, exercise my best critical judgment on all measures that should come before Committee. This is the road to 'responsible and constructive opposition'."

Mr. Marvel charges that, before parties were represented on Committee, the votes were "unvaryingly unanimous," the proceedings drained of all interest, because the real business was done in private meetings."

He continues by saying that the basis of his quarrel with a one-party system is "not that the Republican-controlled Committee was doing 'bad things' that ought to be stopped, but rather that it was not doing anywhere nearly enough 'good things'. We felt that it was too passive and standpattish and that, unless fundamental changes in its whole approach could be made, Princeton Township would lose the race with its many fast-growing problems."

DESIGNED AND BUILT FOR ROCKY HILL FIRE CO.: This new canvas pavilion (in fire engine red, of course) will be dedicated next Thursday, October 19, at the start of a four-day "Fall Festival" planned by the Rocky Hill Volunteer Fire Co. Constructed without interior supports and covering an area equivalent to a basketball court, this all-weather structure was designed by architect Robert M. Engelbrecht, a Rocky Hill resident.

Park Your Child Here

The University League Nursery School will sponsor a child-care service during Princeton University home football games beginning this Saturday.

A staff of experienced mothers and four teenage assistants will care for children between two and seven at the nursery school playground, Washington Road. Care will be provided from 1.30 p.m. to one-half hour after the end of the game, approximately 4.45 p.m.

Children will have full use of the playground facilities. A fee of $2 per child and $1 for each additional child in the same family will be charged for the afternoon. Reservations may be made with Mrs. Irvin Glassman, 77 Randall Road. Proceeds from the child-care program will go to the League's scholarship fund.

PAY-AS-YOU-GO SHELTERS OKAYED: Ottavio Fabiani (right), holding Skippy, and Velio Venier, who has one reservation, feel that the construction of public fallout shelters at public expense is a good idea. For the opinions of those who concur and those who disagree, see below. (Staff Photo.)

Question of the Week

Question: Would you be willing to pay an additional two to three percent on your federal income tax for one year to help finance the construction of public fallout shelters?

Where asked: Princeton Shopping Center

Velio Venier, 317 Witherspoon Street, toolmaker: I would like to know first what the price would be for providing protection for the Princeton population. How many shelters would be needed? If the cost were within reason, then I would say yes, but I doubt if three percent will cover it. I know private shelters won't work. Everybody will be pounding on your door if they know you have one.

Ottavio Fabiani, 313 Witherspoon Street, retired pipefitter: I'm concerned with what happens to everybody and I would like to se them built, but I am retired and living on social security and I don't pay an income tax. So I don't think I would fit into this type program.

Mrs. Karl Light, Cherry Valley Road, real estate broker: Yes. All my life I have been superstitious in feeling that if you prepare for the worst, chances are it will not happen. I'm one of those crackpots who feel that shelters will enable some people to survive if there is an atomic attack. I understand the Russians are building them, why shouldn't we?

Gilbert Aasheim, Griggstown, clerk. Yes, if some of this other garbage the government is involved in were eliminated. I think the government is spending too much money on stuff that isn't essential. Like the moon shot, for instance, and all the money we are giving to foreign countries who don't appreciate it anyway. That moon shot, if it works, is years away. We ought to worry about the present a little more. There won't be any future if we don't.

Mrs. Cynthia Hullett, Mt. Lucas Road, violinist No, definitely not They won't do a bit of good I think the money could be put to much better use, avoiding the need for them

Aldo Zinetti, Princeton Junction, supervisor for American Cyanamid. No, it's not up to the government. If the individual wants to protect his family, let him build his own shelter. I don't think the government should get involved. Once they step in and start spending our money on everybody else, that's socialism. You don't have a democracy if you have to be told how to spend your money.

Edward Tracey, 16 Harris Road, retired No, I think when that bomb starts coming, we're gone. There is no defense

Mrs. Georgia S. Witt, Penns Neck, secretary: No, not through an increase in income taxes. I think it should be done on a local level through civil defense or from contributions from local citizens who have banded together. I am thinking of all the bureaucracy and red tape that can get so involved whenever the government is back of anything. There would be too much money wasted.

John Nicol, Berrien Avenue, Princeton Junction, painter: Sure, I had the experience of shelters in the war during the London blitz. And I can tell you, anyone who doesn't have one of these, or the use of one, has rocks in his head.

Mrs. John Gorman, 128 Cedar Lane, secretary: No, because my feeling is that there isn't got to be much use in surviving if there is going to be an atomic war. Everything on earth will be destroyed. When you come back up, there won't be anything but desolation and dead bodies.

Charles Stryker, 6 Fisher Avenue, postal employee: That isn't a bad idea. They might come in handy. I hope we never have to use them, though. I think I'd be willing to go along with it.

Miss Carol Swinnerton, 5 Murray Place, student: If I thought it was almost definite we were going to have a war, then I'd be very happy to. But most of the people, I think, feel there is very little chance of war, that Khruschchev is bluffing, and I am one of them. I think both sides are afraid of one another. But if conditions between us and Russia continue as they are, then I'd be willing to pay.

Charles Wilkes, 225 Eisenhower Street, graduate student, chemistry: No, In any big government program there is too darn much money wasted. I don't think we'd get much for our money. I think it could be done on a city or state-wide basis with government subsidy.

Mrs. Joseph Duncan, Carter Road, supervisor at RCA Labs: No, because I doubt if a public fallout shelter would be of any use if there were a nuclear war. I don't think they would help much.

Russell H. Vansant, Golden Avenue, Hopewell, retired government employee: I see no reason for it. I think it is more up to the individual. I also feel the government could finance the construction of public shelters without resorting to an increase in taxes.

Mrs. Nathaniel Boonin, Ridgeview Road, housewife: No, I think this is something that too many people are not certain about. I think there are a great number of people who would prefer to chance it and I don't think it would be fair to make these people contribute to something they don't believe in. I haven't quite decided myself what category I am in. I just hope there is time to decide.

why should you buy a SYLVAN POOL now?

why here are the reasons

1. Now is the time when Sylvan Pools' prices are the lowest ever on all 50 custom shapes & sizes. Choose an existing Sylvan shape or design your own with Sylvan.

2. Sylvan's prices now mean that you can save $250 up to $650 depending upon size. Example: a 20' x 40' pool priced at $4790 may now be purchased for $4390.

3. Pool shown above—the 3 pools in 1 Sylvan "S" —may now, for the first time, be purchased at no extra cost. Has clear swimming, separate diving & wading area.

4. By buying & installing your pool now you have the opportunity for arranging and completing all your landscaping before the next full swimming season arrives.

5. Buy and install your Sylvan Pool now and be assured of swimming from the first warm day next season. This means you will have 100% usage of your pool next year.

6. The savings you'll enjoy for installation now may, in many cases, cover the purchase of a Pool Heater that will extend swimming throughout the month of October.

7. A Sylvan-engineered pool permits the free-forming of ice during the winter months. Thus, you can ice-skate and make your pool a year 'round recreation center.

8. Take advantage of Sylvan's 14 years of vast experience which includes over 2400 pools built to date including hotels, motels, apartment houses, etc.

Why I Plan to Vote

Republican

By Stanley C. Smoyer

I shall vote for William L. Wilson for Princeton Township Committeeman because I feel that he is one of the best qualified persons to offer himself for this position in many years. In addition to his many other qualifications, Bill Wilson's experience in two particular areas will be invaluable to the Township's governing body:

1. He served with distinction as President of the Princeton Township Board of Education during much of the recent period when our school system was undergoing its rapid growth and thereby acquired a full understanding of the basic problems of community growth.

2. His business experience as Vice President of one of the country's largest financial organizations (C.I.T. Financial Corp.) enables him to provide the know-how needed to plan and carry out the financing of the capital improvements required in the Township in the immediate years ahead.

While the Township Committee does not have jurisdiction over school affairs, it is important that the Township Committee and the Board of Education maintain an effective liaison in planning and executing their capital programs so as to insure orderly development of the community. I cannot think of a better man to provide this liaison than Bill Wilson.

None of the present members of the Township Committee, including the Democratic incumbent running for reelection, has had business experience in the field of finance. Bill Wilson's experience will round out the talents of our Township Committee by covering this vital area of local government.

But special talents and experience of the types that Bill Wilson possesses are not all we should seek in a candidate. Perhaps the most important quality is a dedication to the betterment of his community. In this quality Bill Wilson is pre-eminent. In addition to his many years of service on the Board of Education, he has also served on the Township Planning Board and is now serving on the Joint Library Board, in which capacity he is acting as Chairman of the Library's New Building Committee.

He is President and a ruling elder of his church. He also maintains his loyalty to Dartmouth College, of which he is a Phi Beta Kappa graduate, by serving as Chairman of his 1931 class.

It should not be inappropriate also to mention that the candidate's wife has for years been one of the most devoted volunteer workers at the Princeton Hospital and has served as a member of its Board.

After reading the foregoing catalog of public service, people could rightly say that Bill Wilson had paid his debt to his community. But he doesn't look at it that way. He believes that so long as a person's talents and experience can be useful to his community, he should offer them—and, in my opinion, the voters of Princeton Township will make a great mistake if they do not take advantage of this offer.

Bill Wilson's opponent is campaigning on the platform that it is necessary to have two parties represented on the Township Committee to provide "diversity of viewpoint." As the record clearly shows, healthy diversity of viewpoint has been present in recent Township Committees in great abundance; and the diversity has been between the Republican members more often than

Democratic

By Joho Hite

The Republican majority of Princeton Township sorely needs a conscience, a voice to remind them not to be too Republican, and particularly not to abuse their power. William Marvel, the only Democrat on the Township Committee, should be reelected not only to maintain the semblance of two-party representation in the Township but also because of his superior personal qualifications and the rather extraordinary ability he has demonstrated during the last three years in office. Bill Marvel has been not so much a "loyal opposition" as a responsible citizen and a man working with the Republican majority to effect necessary changes for the good of the community.

Total Republicanism, or Republicanism in power, becomes increasingly static, displaying only too often a crippling nostalgia for the past and an inordinate desire to preserve what is—even in the face of the vast social changes taking place around us. The Republican majority is not to be accused of having done the things which it ought not to have done; rather, it must be accused of having left undone the things it ought to have done.

The perennial Republican virtue, its concern with the balancing of budgets, becomes in a time of almost inconceivable change the vice of leaving so much undone that when it is done the cost is extravagantly high. They refuse to paint and repair the house they live in; consequently, the ultimate cost of tearing out and replacing the rotting sections will be exorbitant. One has only to glance at the enormous repair job facing the Kennedy administration to see what this same philosophy means when practiced on a national scale.

In his three years in office, Bill Marvel has urged and helped effect much needed reforms in the operation of the Township Committee. The committeemen now have at least a little time to consider essential matters; before Marvel's present term of office, even the most dedicated citizen of this Township might have succumbed to exhaustion and apathy in the face of their traditional examination of trivia

We now have a Master Plan, but it is extremely important that this plan be followed and that it not end up someday in the University Library as a curious piece of late Americana. Consolidation with the Borough must continue to be pushed; we are a single Community if ever there was one. The University straddles across Borough and Township and makes us a Company Town of enviable sorts; our Univesity factory, if not an efficient one, is at least a romantic asset of considerable charm.

I am myself a long-time resident of Princeton and believe that the Township must guard against becoming solely an upper middle class dormitory suburb. There are enough of those around. We have responsibilities to the University faculty; we must bring more Negro families into the Township, and we must not price out of the market Negroes or other familise unable to afford half-acre lots and homes over the $30,000 mark.

Princeton is also an international town, a world community of sorts, and the local government must not be only a service agency to problems of drainage, roads, and zoning ——important as these things are. We need, and are fortunate in having, a man who works in the international arena and is sensitive to the fact that many of our leading citizens carry considerable weight in the councils of the U.N., in Washington, and abroad. The preservation of our community as a place where these people can work and live is essential.

William Marvel is Executive Associate of the Carnegie Corporation of New York and is in charge of that foundation's international relations. This year he has traveled extensively in Africa and Europe in connection with his work in higher education, and he has given over in addition an unconscionable amount of time to the Township Committee. Democrats and dissident Republicans know him as a friend, as a man with a social conscience, and as that increasingly rare phenomenon —an able man devoted to his community's problems. The Township needs Bill Marvel on its Committee. Above all, we do not need more representation from the field of business. Financial experts can be hired; we should not waste the citizens' prerogatives in electing them.

PTA OPENS DRIVE

For Scholarship Money. The Parent-Teacher Association of Princeton High School has begun raising money for its scholarship fund by selling magazine subscriptions to area residents. The PTA awarded nine scholarships to PHS seniors last June.

Members of the magazine drive committee will call on parents of students and their friends to take orders for new and renewal subscriptions and for Christmas and Hanukka gift subscriptions. Mrs. D. J. Grove is general chairman of the fund raising campaign.

Mrs. John T. Marck is serving as magazine co-ordinator. Drive captains are Mrs. A. R. Ambrose, Mrs. Bernard Barenholz, Mrs. E. W. Beste, Mrs. Donald Carroll, Mrs. G. H. Fremon, Mrs. R. B. Dinsmore, Mrs. Albert Hawkins, Mrs. Leonard Hymerling, Mrs. H. W. Leverenz, Mrs. J. E. McHenry, Mrs. S. J. Stein, Mrs. R. E. Schrader, Mrs. C. H. Hutchinson, Mrs. Marvin Rule, Mrs. James A. Hosford, Mrs. Ralph E. Osborne, Mrs. George Snook, Mrs. Herman Ward and Mrs. Charles Craft.

THIEF PAYS $105

Fined on Three Charges. Alfred G. Seifert, 25, of 330 Mountain Avenue, Bound Brook, was fined a total of $105 on three charges of larceny by Township Court Magistrate James S. Hill.

Seifert was charged with stealing building materials from Charles Weigel, 505 Mercer Street, and with committing two similar thefts at the construction firm of Secoolish, Bregenzer and Hall of Hopewell. He pleaded guilty to all three charges and was fined $35 on each.

Leroy C. Bolden of 77 Clay Street was fined $35 after pleading guilty to a charge of larceny. Police said he stole $177 in cash from the Princeton Fuel Oil Company.

Lewis G. Drake, 17, of 19 Stanworth Lane, was fined $15 and had his driver's license revoked for 15 days after he pleaded guilty to a charge of careless driving.

Andes Lurmann, 50, of Washington Street, Rocky Hill, was fined $25 for careless driving.

WOMEN TO STUDY

Homemakers' Work. The Princeton Community Homemaker Service and the Visiting Homemaker Service of Hunterdon County are sponsoring a course to train women to serve as homemakers in households disrupted by illness.

The course will consist of ten classes conducted by representatives of Rutgers University and the State Department of Health. Classes will be three hours long and will be held in Princeton and Flemington.

Instructors from the Princeton area will be Dr. Philip Erlich, psychiatrist; Mrs. Norma Rause, director of the Princeton Visiting Nurse Service, Mrs. Elizabeth Craig, director and owner of the Elms Nursing Home in Cranbury; and Mrs. Lawrence Stratton, director of the Princeton Community Homemaker Service.

ereux Avenue, graduate student, psychology: Yes, I feel it would be worth the money to insure (or at least increase the probability) the survival of a larger proportion of the population.

Marvin Rule, 87 Laurel Avenue, Kingston, student and part-time worker: Not particularly. The government is taking more than enough out of my paycheck right now. I think I would rather take my chances.

Mrs. Elston J. Tribble, 12 Battle Road, housewife: I would say we should prepare ourselves and I think two to three percent shouldn't be too much to pay for some protection in case of war. I think if we are going to spend all that money, the government should use some of it on publicity and pamphlets to tell the people just how dangerous the next war will be and what they should do in an attack. They are aware of it but they are too lazy to do anything about it. I think they are waiting for the government to do something.

Otto Anderson, Old Georgetown Road, carpenter: No. I think such a program would be foolish for this reason. The slightest deviation when they launch their rockets means they can miss their targets by as much as 800 miles. I think they will miss most of the major targets they aim for.

between them and the Democratic member.

To put it another way, the Republican members of the present Township Committee are intelligent, independent men who vote in accordance with their consciences and without regard to the votes of thier fellow members. They do not vote on a partisan basis.

It would be a shame for the Township to pass up a man of Bill Wilson's qualifications merely to put a Democrat on the Township Committee. Let's elect the better-qualified man for a non-political community job—and, without question, that man is Bill Wilson.

TWO FIRMS MERGE

Howe and Hubbard Join. Walter B. Howe, Inc., and the O. H. Hubbard Agency have consolidated and will be known henceforth as Walter B. Howe, Inc. The announcement was made this week by Mrs. Irving Mershon. The consolidation became effective October 1.

Since the death on August 15 of Irving Mershon, owner of the Hubbard agency, the affairs of his firm have been managed by the Howe agency and the formal merger represents a continuation of this arrangement.

Mrs. Mershon, widow of the former Hubbard owner, will maintain an interest in the newly-formed corporation. Officers will be Russell H. Servis, president; William J. Wood, Jr., vice-president, William J. Dettmar, treasurer, Mrs. Evelyn H. Walton, secretary and Joseph H. Smith, assistant treasurer. These are the same officers who served the Howe agency before the merger.

For the present, the firm will continue to use the two offices, one at 94 Nassau and the other at 142 Nassau. There will be no change in personnel.

Together, the two firms represent 150 years of real estate and insurance business in Princeton and Mercer County. Both were formed in 1885.

SERVING AS PRESIDENT: Dr. Harlan D. Mills, president of the new American Science Complex, Inc.

NEW COMPANY FORMED To Promote Mathematics. American Science Complex, Inc., a new company formed to promote broader uses of mathematics in technology, has opened offices at 20 Nassau Street.

The principal aim of the new firm is to identify and attack important theoretical problems of physical, engineering and managerial sciences and to apply to these problems the resources of high-level mathematics.

Dr. Harlan D. Mills, president of American Science Complex, in announcing formation of the new firm, said that ASC was organized in response to the Soviet challenge in modern applied mathematics in space and defense technology. In addition, however, the new firm will conduct mathematical research in competitive business strategies for well-known corporations.

Dr. Mills believes that modern military, space and atomic systems require a theoretical mathematical emphasis which has, in the past, been more characteristic of Soviet and European engineering than of American.

FUND GROWS STEADILY Celebrates Fourth Year. The Nassau Fund, established in October, 1957, has shown a steady growth in all areas, according to a report released this week by the Fund to mark its fourth anniversary.

As of October 1, 1961, there are 362 stockholders, compared with 290 a year ago, and 46 at the end of 1957. Total net assets are now $3,540,000, compared with $322,000 at the end of 1957 and $2,431,000 in 1960.

The net asset value has risen from $10.05 at the end of 1957, to $14.20 as of October, 1961. Dividends from income per share are $.29 at the end of the third quarter of 1961, compared with $.36 for the entire year of 1960 and slightly over $.10 at the end of 1957.

The Nassau Fund is a no-load balanced fund, which means that there is no charge or commission for the purchase of shares, nor any charge for the redemption of shares. It also means that no more than 75 percent of funds are invested in any one class of security; that is, in bonds, preferred stocks or common stocks.

Mutual funds, such as the Nassau Fund, are often advised for the small investor who wants diversity under experienced investment counsel. At present, about 60 percent of the Fund is owned by Princeton investors.

PRESIDENT NAMED For Research Park. Walter G. Barlow has been elected chairman of the board of directors and president of Princeton Research Park, succeeding the late Claude Robinson, who organized the Park in 1956. Dr. Robinson died on August 7.

Mr. Barlow, president of Opinion Research Corporation, has served as a director of Research Park since its establishment. He is also a member of the Economic Security Committee of the United States Chamber of Commerce and a director of the Family Service Association of America.

Leroy E. Purvis was elected a director of Research Park to fill the vacancy caused by Dr. Robinson's death. Mr. Purvis is chairman and president of Gallup & Robinson, Inc.

Research Park is a real estate development designed for research laboratories and offices. It occupies a 66½-acre tract on North Harrison Street.

OWNERSHIP CHANGES ORC Held by Eight Directors. A change in the ownership structure of the Opinion Research Corporation was made known this week by Joseph C. Bevis, chairman of the board, and Walter G. Barlow, president. Full ownership has passed to the eight ORC directors. Following the death last August of Dr. Claude Robinson, who founded the attitude and market research company in 1938.

Dr. Robinson had shared ownership with the other directors, serving in recent years first as chairman of the board and later as head of its executive committee. Today, ownership of the company is vested in these officers:

Mr. Bevis, chairman, whose early career was in research for the Federal Government before joining ORC in 1940.

Mr. Barlow, president, a newspaperman in Washington before coming to ORC in 1946.

Thomas W. Benham, vice-president, a member since 1946; LeBaron R. Foster, vice-president, a member since 1939; Hugh C. Hoffman, vice-president, a member since 1945; M. Starr Northrop, vice-president, a member since 1944; W. Donald Rugg, vice-president, a member since 1942; and Hugh L. Rusch, vice-president, a member since 1946.

Opinion Research has a headquarters staff of 115, supplemented by more than 1000 interviewers throughout the nation. First occupying space in the First National Bank and later at 44 Nassau, it now

VITAL PASS RECEPTIONS BRING VICTORY: Barry Schuman's six sure-fingered receptions against Columbia Saturday were a major factor in Princeton's 30-to-20 triumph at Lions' Baker Field. Above, he snares second-period reverse pass from wingback Charlie Phillips for the two-point conversion that put Tigers ahead, 15-14. At right, despite desperate stab by Columbia's Len DeFiore (13), he makes leaping catch of Jim Rockenbach's fourth-down aerial to bring Princeton from behind again, 21-20. (Howard Schrader Photos.)

TIGERS LOOK UPWARD

Heavy Favorites over Penn. In an Ivy League race that already has given evidence of providing the unexpected in unprecedented quantities, Princeton rules a firm favorite to stash away a Quaker next to the Lion it planted in its trophy case last weekend. Pennsylvania's once-optimistic football team, installed as a pre-season title possibility, will be in Palmer Stadium Saturday for a 2 o'clock kickoff.

The presence of a largely veteran squad, the fact that the single wing under ex-Princetonian John Stiegman was starting its second season at Penn; and the lack of any real favorite in the pre-season estimates all led to a bright outlook on the Quaker campus. A fortnight before the first game, however, trouble took over and matters have been deteriorating somewhat steadily ever since.

Item one was the loss of tailback Porter Shreve for the season with a fractured ankle, incurred in a September scrimmage with Colgate. Stiegman had termed him the "best all-around back in the Ivy-League," a rating Princeton would like to have challenged this Saturday with a couple of entries of its own.

Item two was a sluggish performance in beating lightly-regarded Lafayette (14-7) and item three brought no cheer at all: a 30-0 whitewash last Saturday at the hands of a Dartmouth eleven that had itself been rated a pre-season question mark. So much trouble did the Quakers have in mounting an attack that they rang up only four first downs and at one point failed to score despite four shots at the goal line from less than a yard out.

Sophomore at Tailback. With the loss of Shreve, Stiegman turned to a sophomore, 175-lb. John Owens, for his starting tailback. He is unusually fast but the assignment of making the Quakers move is more than one newcomer to the varsity can manage. Against Darmouth, Penn was held to 91 yards on the ground and failed to complete any of its six passes.

Fullback Pete McCarthy is probably the Quakers' best ball carrier; senior Paul Aita, 192 pounds, is the blocking back and field general. Up front, the Red and Blue is considerably lighter than either Rutgers or Columbia, and Princeton will for the first time have a small weight advantage. Stiegman is, of course, a devotee of the single wing that Charlie Caldwell brought to Princeton and the Tigers will have to defend against a variation of their own basic attack.

OUTHIT, TIGERS WIN

Columbia Hammered Harder It is a football rarity when the team that comes off second best in the line play achieves a decisive edge on the scoreboard. Princeton's extremely eager young operatives managed that feat in New York Saturday, while simultaneously accomplishing a comeback infrequently staged by a presumably inexperienced team.

Without question, Columbia's hopeful and confident squad spent the larger part of the afternoon giving more than it absorbed in physical combat. Time and again, the Lions ground out steady yardage through the line (generally Princeton's right side) in a manner that threatened to blow the game wide open.

It was tremendously to Princeton's credit that it managed to withstand the home team's early onslaught (14 points in 14 minutes) and stage two come-from-behind rallies that brought the 30-to-20 triumph. After Columbia had moved for two quick touchdowns, many a Princetonian in the stands wondered how high these renovated Lions would be able to run up the score.

Down on the field, however, the orange and white clad Princetonians were merely wondering at what point they would regain the initiative, and when they would take the lead for good. Said backfield coach Jake McCandless after the game "They weren't worried about being 14 points behind—I don't think they even took the time to look at the scoreboard."

It was a fine combination of developing ability and enthusiasm that won for the Tigers. If their tackling, particularly at the line of scrimmage, was poor and their blocking not up to the high standards set in the Rutgers game, they won by giving the extra effort that is not a part of the game's fundamentals.

After Columbia's first two touchdowns, the see-saw scoring went this way:

- Sophomore tailback Hugh MacMillan laid a 30-yard pass over sophomore wingback Jim Rockenbach's shoulder three yards beyond the Columbia safety and the 72-yard play chopped the Lions' lead in half five seconds before the first period ended
- Rockenbach (see "We Congratulate, page 24) reversed his field after finding no receiver open on a reverse pass, set up two blocks to perfection and tight-roped 26 yards down the sidelines for a touchdown. The wingback pass from Charlie Phillips to Barry Schuman was good for two points and a near-incredible 15-14 half-time lead.
- Columbia marched 54 yards for a TD just as the third quarter was ending but Schuman was in fast to break up the attempted pass for a two-point conversion, holding the Lions' lead to 20-15.
- A fine leaping end zone catch by Schuman on fourth down climaxed a 75-yard drive and Riley's pass to Phillips for a two-point conversion made it 23-20.
- With the outcome still very much in doubt, Princeton stopped a Columbia drive on its 13. On first down, an overshifted Columbia defense was split down the middle by tailback Greg Riley, who raced 87 yards for the score that broke the game open.

JIM ROCKENBACH
Princeton Wingback

John Dill, assistant freshman baseball coach and as firm a Tiger rooter as there is in these parts, was talking football one sweltering July day. "We've got a sophomore staying with us this summer who works out every evening on the Lawrenceville field after his job. You should see that kid get himself in condition in all this heat. And is he eager! Name of Rockenbach."

Saturday afternoon at Columbia's Baker Field, an eager sophomore, playing in 80-degree heat as if it were a frost-crisp afternoon contributed in major fashion to shattering the Lions' dreams of beating Princeton for the first time in 16 years. Replacing the tested veteran, Dan Terpack, when injury and illness forced the latter's early retirement from action, the 19-year old Pittsburgh resident compiled this glittering statistical performance:

- Completed a 72-yard pass play for an invaluable first period touchdown that turned the tide Princeton's way.
- Improvised a 26-yard sweep around end, after his receivers were covered, that gave the Tigers their second touchdown, a 15-14 half-time lead and a major psychological advantage.
- Averaged 10.3 yards on five carries and completed three of four passes, the last for a touchdown that put the resurgent Princetonians ahead to stay.

Munching happily on a sandwich in the dressing room after the game, Dick Colman enjoyed hearing comments on Rockenbach's fine running and passing, but preferred to put something else in his book for the future. "What pleased me most," the Tiger coach said, "was the numerous fine tackles that Jim made, some of them on pass defense. When a player starts to diagnose and to hit that way, you know he has the ability to do it again in future games."

Rockenbach, who enhances his condition by wrestling in the winter season, is what the football fraternity calls a "hard-nosed player." He revels in making jarring tackles on backs who outweigh his 170-lb. frame by 25 pounds, and he battles charging linemen for the extra footage that wins ball games.

Alternating with Terpack at the wingback position this season, he is already part of an explosive package that seems sure to catapault Princeton into the thick of the Ivy race—where virtually no one conceded it a place in the pre-season ratings.

Defense Unimpressive. It it well for the Tigers that they are generating another high-scoring attack, because the interior line play and the linebacking may be season-long problems. Loss of Bruce Hartman for the rest of the season with a severely wrenched knee will compound the shortage of good linebackers.

There is a weakness, too, at fullback, where neither the blocking or the ball carrying has been entirely satisfactory. The problem may be solved by conversion of sophomore Pete Poricis from tailback to fullback, but that is not a move achieved overnight. If it comes, however, Dick Colman will be dealing from strength—able to spare Poricis because Riley is so firmly established at the position and MacMillan is highly capable in a reserve capacity.

Princeton goes into the Penn game with its own outlook toward the contest as its only major problem. Below par as they are, the Quakers have the ability to spring an upset if their hosts tend to coast too thoroughly.

A young team, bulwarked by personnel battling hard for starting assignments, is not, however, likely to fall victim to over-confidence. Expectations are that Princeton will win without difficulty—probably by about the same margin of 30 points that Dartmouth did over Penn last weekend.

LITTLE TIGERS BRACED

For Trenton Game Friday. "If I don't get to play in this game, I might as well not have come out at all this year." This thought, spoken by the captain of the Princeton football team, Don Zuber, who has been forced to sit out the first two games this season because of a thigh injury, indicate how important the Trenton High game is to the players.

The ancient rivalry between Trenton and Princeton High will resume Friday at 3 on on THS field. A win is almost tantamount to a successful season, regardless of future fortunes. PHS coach Joe Jingoli makes no predictions other than his players "are in for a tough ball game. No matter what the outcome, I know our kids will give them a tough battle," he added.

Neither team has been outstanding so far this year. The Blue and White won its first game in two tries Saturday when it scored in the last period to top tough Middletown Township, 13-6. After losing its first two contests, Pat Clemens' eleven seems to have found itself. Saturday the Tornadoes walloped Thomas Jefferson High School at Elizabeth 33-6, for their first victory.

That 33-6 score may ring a discordant bell among PHS followers. Last year, a so-so Trenton eleven invaded Harris Field to take on a Little Tiger team that was unbeaten in three games. In a memorable display of relentless power, the underdog Tornadoes ran through the stunned Little Tigers for 349 yards and 17 first downs. The final score 33-6.

One reason why past scores mean nothing when these two meet is that there is more at stake than just another victory. A win means a leg on the capture of the mythical Mercer County Crown which, though it may be mythical, is as eagerly sought as any Ivy League title. Two years ago, the Little Tigers wore it. Trenton helped wrest it from them last year. A loss Friday by either team would seriously hurt its chances of winning the crown.

In almost a carbon copy of last year's 13-7 victory, Princeton scored again in the final quarter to upend Middletown Township for the second year in a row.

"We made a few mistakes but our kids did a pretty good job," Jingoli said.

Fumble Leads to TD. The home team opened the door to PHS on the first play from scrimmage. The quarterback, in trying to hand off, was hit by Joe Cox and fumbled, Princeton recovering on the Middletown 25. On the second play, fullback Charlie Pemberton sped inside tackle for a 25-yard romp and a touchdown.

After the losers has tied it up on the last play of the first half, PHS scored in the final quarter to win. Deep in its own territory, Middletown tried to punt, but the kicker fumbled the pass from center and his hurried effort was blocked. The loose ball was picked up by tackle Mike Cooper who raced into the end zone for the tally. Tom Olsen booted the point after touchdown.

High on Jingoli's list was the whole defensive unit, coached by Jerry Groniger and George Povilitis. "The whole team, Joe Cox, Gary Mount and Pete Greenfield on the line and Tom Reynolds in the linebacker position did a good job," reported Jingoli. "In fact, Middletown didn't pass the 50-yard line in the whole second half."

Offensively, Jingoli was pleased with the running of Pemberton and Don Cooper at tailback Cooper was especially effective in running the off tackle play, according to Jingoli. The fine offensive blocking of Tommy Volz and Tony Altieri in opening the holes for Pemberton and Cooper was also cited.

The winners had to play without the services of Captain Don Zuber; both starting ends, Jim Norris and Art Riddler, and Dave Shields, a defensive linebacker. All were sidelined with injuries.

HUN WINS AGAIN

Faces Germantown Next. After two games, the Hun football team is two up in the win column. A 19-13 victory over Perkiomen Saturday marked the first time in three years that Hun has won its first two outings.

Hun's third potential victim, Germantown Friends, has also won its first two games, scoring over Solebury and Pennington. The two unbeatens will clash Friday at 3:15 on Hun's field next to Russell Road. There is no admission charge.

This will be the fifth meeting between the two teams. In winning all four previous contests, Hun has never beaten the Quakers by more than two touchdowns. The Red and Black won last year's meeting, 16-0.

"They must be pretty good to have won their first two games," said Hun Coach Hawley Waterman who isn't expecting an easy win over the Pennsylvania eleven. "When we beat them last year, most of their players were sophomores," said Waterman. "They should be an improved team this season and should hit their peak next year. They operate out of an unbalanced line which can fool you, and they definitely are a trapping team," he added.

Against Perkiomen Saturday, Hun "started off with a bang," according to Waterman. The Red and Black jumped on the home team for three quick touchdowns and then hung on to fend off the aroused Pennsburg, Pa. school. For Perkiomen's coach, Hal Craggin, who had pointedly told Waterman he was going to beat him with "the finest team I've had," the defeat—his second in a row by Hun—labeled him a poor prophet.

Reverberations from Hun's opening explosion reached the losers right after the kick-off when Hun forced Perkiomen to fumble on its own 37. Six plays later, halfback Joe D'Antona scored, slicing off tackle for three yards. The points after touchdown failed.

Early in the second quarter, D'Antona got his second, and more spectacular, touchdown of the afternoon. This time he intercepted a Perkiomen pass and ran it back 75 yards. Again the PAT failed.

Moments later, the visitors had scored their third TD, one they had to work for. Driving his team down field, quarterback Tim Walsh, sent his two ends down and out and then threw a 25-yard strike to halfback Gary Grover down the middle and all alone on the goal line. Grover then passed to end Leigh McMakin for the PAT to send Hun in front, 19-0.

Perkiomen's Bob Thomas filled the air with passes in an attempt to draw even. He passed 30 yards for one score and led his teammates to a second in the final period but it was too late for any door-closing—Hun had the victory wrapped up.

LARRIES TO GO NORTH

For Game With Andover. Lawrenceville's football team, unbeaten in 23 games, will make its deepest penetration of New England in many years Saturday when the Red and Black takes on Andover in Andover, Mass.

Five Princeton area residents are on the two squads, four of them at Lawrenceville: Bert Bonner, a tackle, and Barry Crenshaw, a back, both of Princeton; Bob Ehret, a center, and George Wilgus, a back, both Lawrenceville residents. For Andover, Charlie Stuart of Princeton will play right end.

Last year, Andover came south and absorbed a 14-8 loss. So far this season, Andover has lost to the Northeastern Freshmen, 28-22, and beaten Tufts Freshmen, 12-6. The Lawrentians scored their second victory in as many games this season, drubbing Blair Academy, 44-0, on Saturday.

The Larries marched 76 yards for a touchdown after receiving the opening kickoff. John Hannum returned a Blair punt 73 yards for another touchdown the second time the Larries got the ball. By half time it was Lawrenceville 30, Blair 0.

Bryan Breuel socred his third touchdown of the season and Hannum added his second of the game to lead the Red and Black attack. Other Lawrenceville touchdowns were scored by Linn Morrow and Jim Thompson. The victory was Lawrenceville's 22nd in its last 23 games. There has been one tie—with Peddie. John Reydel is in his first season as head coach.

LILLIE WINS

In Carnegie Club Sailing. Compiling 27.7 points, including one of the day's two firsts, Jay Lillie won Sunday's competition staged by the Carnegie Sailing Club. John Reeder finished first in the other race but was fifth with his 19.7 total.

No Longer Rip Van Winkle

• One of the major companies in a major consumer industry has been asleep for about a dozen years.

• But this company, which has had a consistent and an enviable dividend record (the yield is about 5 percent), now seems to our analysts, to be wide awake. In other words, it appears there is a good chance for it to grow again.

News Of The CHURCHES

CHURCH BUYS SITE

In Franklin Park Area. Christ The King Evangelical Lutheran Church has announced the purchase of four acres of land on Route 27 to be used, within the next two years, as the site of the congregation's first church building. Members of the Lutheran body have been meeting in the Phillips School.

Goals for the building program have been set at an $11,000 minimum, and a $16,000 "venture" goal, based on a two-year period. Alfred Fleury is general chairman of the building fund appeal.

METHODISTS SET FORUMS

On Latin America. In a series of three Sunday night forums, members of the Princeton Methodist Church will consider the challenge faced by the church in Latin America. The Rev. Dr. James E. Ellis, executive secretary for Latin America of the Division of World Missions of the Methodist Church, will discuss the church in Brazil at the first forum, to be held this Sunday at 5:30 p.m.

Dr. Ellis was a missionary in Brazil from 1924 to 1950. At present, he has about 280 missionaires in 10 Latin American countries under his administration.

TO SPEAK ON CRISIS

At Seminary. Princeton Theological Seminary's "Challenge to the Church" lecture series will open next Tuesday, at 7.45 p.m. in the Campus Center auditorum. The speaker will be the Rev. Dr Elfan Rees, European representative of the World Council of Churches' Commission of the Churches in International Affairs. He will speak on "The Challenge of International Crises to the Churches."

Stationed in Geneva, Switzerland, Dr Rees advises the world Council on refugee affairs, as well as serving on the International Affairs commission. Each fall, he spends three months in the United States attending sessions of the United Nations and working for continued aid to refugees in the Near East, Korea and Europe.

Report from THE MAYOR

Colors For Princeton. There are many things which contribute to the charm and special quality of Princeton. And there are many people whose special concern helps to maintain the continuity of tradition which may sometimes be taken for granted by a few residents, but is certainly the constant source of favorable comment from the never-ending stream of visitors to our community.

One of those who has contributed much to maintaining the flavor and special character of Princeton is the distinguished professional colorist, Julian Ellsworth Garnsey. It was he who outlined to the community in an important speech in 1948 the need for care and selectivity in the use of color for maintaining a distinctive beauty of business as well as residential structures in Princeton.

In that important prescription for what has become known as Operation Nassau, Garnsey said "I do not imply a slavish, archaeological imitation of Colonial color. The world does move, and we may consider the telephone, automobile and modern bathrooms here to stay. I do mean a freely adapted recall of Colonial color, not for imitation but for remembrance. I should like visitors to say: 'What a pretty town! Reminds me of the old days,' not: 'What a perfect reproduction of a Colonial village.'"

Meters, Too. Well, not long ago, the Mayor met Mr. Garnsey at a meeting; and he brought up the subject of the color on the parking meters. He pointed out that he had chosen the meter color for its purpose of making these 1950 additions to the Princeton scene as unobtrusive as possible.

Now, he said, there has been, to his professional eye, a noticeable drift from the original color. The Mayor urged him to send a sample color chip to test our paint supply.

Mr. Garnsey promptly came through with the requested sample; and this week the Mayor reviewed the color "shift" with our meter crew. Sure enough, the new paint had moved noticeably toward a more garish blue.

It was as noticeable as the difference between Times Square and Palmer Square! Jack O'Neill says the next paint order will correct all that and he and all of us say "thanks" to Mr. Garnsey for his watchfulness and interest.

Fire Prevention Week. This week throughout America is being celebrated as national Fire Prevention Week. It gives an opportunity for us to be reminded of the year-round vigil of our alert and capable volunteers of the three Princeton fire companies.

It offers an appropriate reminder that our firefighters have been increasing another valuable aspect of their service to the community—the inspection of buildings throughout Princeton to make sure of maximum effort at prevention of costly and dangerous fires. We can show our appreciation by giving day by day attention to the accepted rules of fire safety in our homes, schools, and work places. Firemen hope that we will make an extra effort to rid our cellars and attics of old rags, newspapers and junk which constitute real fire risks.

On The Calendar. Last week's calendar for the Mayor included the agenda preparation session of the Mayor and Council; the regular meeting of the Planning Board; special negotiation meetings affecting the off-street parking projects; an address before the Y's Mens Club, one of Princeton's growing young service organizations; a "football" dinner sponsored by the University for supervisors who are part of the 500-man volunteer group of ushers for home games at the Stadium; luncheon at the invitation of Princeton's James P. Stewart, who was celebrating the 60th anniversary of the De-Laval Steam Turbine Company of which he is president; an evening with two Fortune magazine staff members who are doing a feature on one phase of Princeton's life; and attendance at the stirring installation service for the Rev. Robert L. Cope as minister of the Unitarian Church of Princeton. Mr. Cope must have enjoyed Rev. B. J. Anderson's description of the Princeton scene as he joined the many religious leaders of various faiths who contribute so much to the strength of our town.

At Home and Abroad. Associate Justice William O. Douglas of the United States Supreme Court delivered a stirring address at the Unitarian installation service on the subject of America: At Home and Abroad. Princeton continues to widen its interest and participation in all of this.

Dean Ernest Gordon wrote the Mayor this week that he had arranged a meeting in McCosh 10 on Sunday, October 15, where Ernest Gross will speak on "Dag Hammarskjold and the Future of the United Nations." Gross was a personal advisor to the late Secretary-General and is completing a book on this very subject.

Word has also come that in addition to the teen-age trick or treat collections for UNICEF, the "wee ones"—under 12 years of age—are planning to forego some of the usual candy collection in favor of seeking pennies and nickels for medicines and milk for youngsters overseas who desperately need this help. Certainly the Princeton community will want to respond to this fine program and to encourage the youngsters who are doing this important bid for world understanding.

Friday Open House. The regular "Tell It to the Mayor" sessions will be held on Friday, October 13, from 7 to 10 p.m. and on Friday, October 20, from 3 to 6 p.m. at Borough Hall. No appointment is ever necessary for these informal sessions.

DAD, when your children are ready for college, will you be rich?????

The Department of Health, Education and Welfare recently announced that the cost of attending college has risen 25% in just a few years.

For most people there are just four ways to accumulate money for a college fund . . . . current earnings . . . . savings . . . . working his way . . . . and an Insured Education Fund.

Why not find out how you can assure your children's future for only pennies a day?

GET MORE OUT OF LIFE

IN HOPEWELL

Is life hectic? Would you like to live in a relaxed, peaceful community? Then come to Hopewell—just 6 miles from Princeton. Hopewell has its own museum and library. It was the early home of Brown University. And played an interesting part in the Revolutionary War. John Hart, signer of the Declaration of Independence, lived here. Friendly shops, friendly bank, friendly people.

ATTENTION PLEASE!!!

Space doesn't permit me to tell you all about the many extras included in this house, however, I will say this—

It has four bedrooms, dressing room, large living room, separate dining room, study, breakfast room, modern kitchen, recreation room, four baths, screened porch, two car garage.

Shall I go on?

Wall-to-wall carpeting, washer, dryer, mangle, freezer refrigerator,—and many, many other extras.

The price is $26,500. And, in my opinion, the very best buy I have ever seen. Call me so I can go into more details for you.

ATTENTION
ACCURATE CLERR TYPISTS
AND STENOGRAPHERS

The Institute for Defense Analyses (IDA) plans to train a few outstanding individuals (female or male) to be mathematical typists in its Princeton division.

Salaries for good math typists exceed those paid in this area for clerk typists and stenos.

If your record reflects typing competence and job stability, you should look into this opportunity.

Full time permanent positions with excellent fringe benefits including four weeks paid vacation yearly.

Interviews for immediate openings will be conducted during the next ten days.
